UN COMMITTEE TO MEET AGAIN

Britain, Canada To Revel Stand On Red China Issue

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 25—Up to now, Britain and Canada have leaned heavily toward India's "go slow" policy, with Prime Minister St. Laurent of Canada known to have worked actively with Premier Nehru of India in keeping negotiations going with Red China.

Sir Gladwyn Jebb of Britain and Canadian Foreign Minister Lester B. Pearson have placed themselves on the list of speakers in the UN Political Committee, scheduled to meet late this afternoon.

A difficult situation faces both delegates over announcements by Australia and New Zealand as members of the commonwealth that they intend to support the United States resolution.

SIR BENEGAL RAU of India also is on the speakers' list. His spokesman said yesterday that a new communication received from the Indian ambassador in Peiping indicated that Red China is ready to join a seven-power conference outside of China and the United States for the purpose of negotiating immediately a cease-fire in Korea.

Consequently, the 12-member Arab-Asia bloc introduced a resolution proposing the summoning as soon as possible of such a conference participated in by Russia, Britain, the United States, France, Egypt, India and Communist China.

The Arab-Asia resolution again puts obstacles in the way of an early vote on the American resolution. U.S. sources even consider it doubtful whether a decision can be reached by Saturday.

At present, pressure by the U.S. might result in a substantial majority vote for the American resolution but without healing the gap in Anglo-American unity on the issue of branding Red China an aggressor.

A canvass of delegates indicates that the 20-member Latin-American bloc stands solidly with the U.S. The six-nation Arab League group has joined with India in leading the fight for a "go slow" policy and for persisting in direct contacts with Peiping.

JC AWARD DINNER ARRANGED

Ohio Attorney General To Give Address Monday

"That little fellow with the big voice," Ohio's new attorney general, will be the principal speaker Monday evening when Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce makes its "distinguished service" award.

He is C. William O'Neill of Marietta, selected as one of 10 outstanding young men in the nation in 1950 by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce.

O'Neill will give the principal address Monday in Pickaway Country Club when the Circleville Jaycees name the "most outstanding young man" in Circleville. Local Kiwanis and Rotary club members also will attend the affair.

The diminutive politician, who stands about 5'7" tall, is 34 years old and is a former speaker in the house of representatives.

O'NEILL PASSED his first political test at the age of 23, when he was elected for his first term in the house. It was while serving as a "freshman" in the house that his colleagues began referring to him as "that little fellow with the big voice."

The new attorney general enlisted into the U. S. Army as a private in 1943 during World War II and was sent overseas in 1944. He was discharged in 1946 at the rating of staff sergeant.

O'Neill was accorded the high honor by the U. S. Jaycees for his achievements in the state legislature.

Circleville's "distinguished service" award winner has been selected by an anonymous group of non-Jaycee members for his service to Circleville during the last year.

After being named during the Monday ceremony, the award winner will be eligible to compete for statewide honors and, if successful there, for national honors.

Final arrangements for the banquet were made Wednesday during a meeting of the organization.

Governor Grants Mercy To Man From Middleport

COLUMBUS, Jan. 25—Governor Lausche today commuted the prison sentence of Joseph P. Simon, 28-year-old Middleport grocer who escaped from the Mansfield reformatory in 1942, so it will expire on Feb. 22.

The commutation means Simon will be a free man in less than a month.

The governor declared that "this is the most extraordinary circumstance and therefore is being given extraordinary consideration."

"He has established himself in Middleport where he has won the respect and deep friendship of the entire community."

"Based on these facts, he is in my opinion worthy of the commutation I have given him."

Simon, a World War II veteran who is now married and has three children, was sentenced to a one-to-15 year term in 1941.

Volcano Blows In New Guinea

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea, Jan. 25—Mount Lamington volcano, 100 miles from Port Moresby, erupted again today and forced a hurried mass evacuation from the area where 4,000 persons were killed last weekend by flaming lava.

Government authorities confirmed meanwhile that at least 4,000 natives died as a result of the previous eruption. The dead totalled half of the native population residing at the foot of the volcano.

Fixed Ratio Idea On U.S. Troops Gaining Favor

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—The Senate's ranking GOP voice on military policy, predicted today that Congress may compromise its "troops to Europe" issue by agreeing on a fixed ratio of U. S.-to-European divisions.

Sen. Bridges, (R) N. H., said he would not be surprised to see Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower make such a recommendation when he reports to Congress next Thursday. Bridges added:

"I find that it appeals to many persons in high places, and it appeals to me."

Bridges pointed out that such a program would involve no "ceiling" on America's contribution of ground forces, but would make it clear that for each U.S. division put under Ike's command the other North Atlantic powers would put so many in the field.

The senator said:

"That would provide protection for us and an incentive to the Europeans."

Foreign Relations Chairman Connally, (D) Tex., who will preside over the joint committee sessions, has made it clear to his colleagues that he is awaiting Eisenhower's report before trying to frame any tentative resolution.

Both he and Armed Services Chairman Russell, (D) Ga., are on record for an "all out" effort to stop Russia if Europe shows the will to fight. Connally said that a ceiling on U. S. troop commitments would "discourage Europe and encourage Stalin to strike."

ALLIES PUSHING NORTH

UN Divisions Trap Large Commie Force In Korea

TOKYO, Jan. 26—(Friday)—United Nations divisions trapped a big Communist force southwest of Yongwol Thursday on the east-central Korean front while to the northwest a UN patrol reentered Hoengsong.

A front dispatch reported that UN troops were "decimating" the Red force encircled southwest of Yongwol. This Communist force was a major segment of 30,000 North Korean regulars and guerrillas, including 500 Asiatic Amazons.

A dispatch from International News Service War Correspondent Irwin Tress reported that a tank-led UN patrol reentered Hoengsong, 33 miles below the 38th Parallel border, at 1:30 Thursday afternoon.

Tress reported there was no enemy opposition. This was the same UN patrol which had made the farthest penetration of enemy territory since the fall of Seoul last month. The patrol had withdrawn from Hoengsong Wednesday for the night.

Twelve miles south of Hoengsong, air observers reported spotting large numbers of enemy troops in a five-mile radius around Wonju. Enemy groups of 40 to 500 men were observed.

Air strikes were called for, and a preliminary estimate showed at least 170 enemy dead.

In the Yongwol sector, UN spearheads raced seven miles north of Korea's "mining capital" in pursuit of fleeing Communist troops. Yongwol was recaptured by UN forces Thursday.

Chinese and North Korean troops, hit by incessant air strikes, were apparently retreating at several points along the 150-mile Korean front, while at others the enemy was offering somewhat stiffer resistance to UN probing punches.

A U. S. Eighth Army communiqué issued Thursday night said airmen had spotted one small enemy group "withdrawing" from a point five miles north of Osan, 28 air miles south of Seoul.

It said armored UN patrol columns renewed "extensive patrolling" along the vital western front below Seoul during the morning without any appreciable contact with Communist troops.

However, field dispatches said Allied patrols had begun reaching the southern fringe of enemy defenses southeast of the Red-occupied Korean capital.

ONE 3,000-Man Communist group was reported entrenched in feverishly reinforced positions (Continued on Page Two)

Aged Pension Change Asked

COLUMBUS, Jan. 25—A bill to make Ohio's aged eligible for pensions regardless of the amount of their private income, was introduced in the house today by Rep. Adrian Fink (R-Cuyahoga).

At the present time, the law provides pensions may not be granted when income of all sources exceeds $660 per year.

'WHOLE' CRISIS IS EYED

Western Big Three Hands Reds Parley Suggestions

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—The United States, Britain and France presented Russia with a solid front today in their demand that any further Big Four foreign ministers' conference consider the world crisis and not just a segment of it.

The Western Big Three, in identical notes, told the Soviet Union that a conference devoted exclusively to Germany, "would be inadequate and unreal."

The notes echoed previous ones sent to the Kremlin Dec. 22, and indicated that the Western Powers would not be budged from their stand that any conference must consider more than the demilitarization of Germany.

The trio again urged the Soviets to be "prepared to discuss the elimination of the principal causes of the present international crisis" and asked for further clarification of the Russians' views.

They stated flatly:

"THE TENSION which exists in the world today does not arise from the German problem."

As in the case when the Kremlin first suggested the conference, the Western Powers countered with a proposal for a preliminary meeting of deputies to draw up an agenda with the topics arranged in the order in which they would be taken up.

The Big Three suggested that the deputies meet in Paris. Under the Western plan, the deputies would be concerned only with arranging a program for the foreign ministers—not with the solution of any problems.

Washington officials are frankly skeptical that anything would be gained by such a conference, but the door is left open for a top-level session with the Russians.

Few observers believe the Western terms are such that the Soviets will accept them.

The latest Western notes again stated that Russia's charges about the extent of rearmament in Allied-occupied West Germany "are completely without foundation."

Ohio Solons Not Sure Whether They Want Statement On Policy

COLUMBUS, Jan. 25—The Ohio house of representatives split wide open today on the question of whether it should consider a resolution on foreign policy.

Two resolutions, one asking Congress to demand that our troops be withdrawn from Korea and the other memorializing Congress to "go all out or get out" of that tortured country, were referred to the committee on reference.

However, leaders on both sides of the aisle made it plain that not more than one resolution, if that, would eventually be presented on the floor.

Speaker Gordon Renner (R-Hamilton) said:

"In these critical times, I can see no reason why this body, as close as it is to the people should not express an opinion on foreign policy."

However, Minority Leader James Carney (D-Cuyahoga) took the opposite view stating:

"It would be all wrong for us, with our limited knowledge of the subject, to debate foreign policy. We would be doing a disservice to the country."

One topflight GOP leader, who preferred to remain anonymous so as not to embarrass Renner by outspoken disagreement, bluntly termed such resolutions "grabs for cheap publicity," indicating that the entire Republican majority might not be willing to go along. He stated:

"With its meager knowledge, this house should not meddle in an already confused foreign policy situation."

Last-Minute Details Are Being Ironed

Rollback Said To Be Probable

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—The Defense Mobilization Board today unanimously approved a nationwide price-wage freeze, but issuance of the order probably will be delayed 24 hours until the wage stabilization policy is completed.

Aides of Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson said "in all likelihood" the freeze will not come until tomorrow.

An official explained that while the across-the-board price freeze is ready to go out, Wage Board Chairman Cyrus S. Ching has not yet finished the wage formula which will accompany the price action.

A rollback appears probable. Stabilization officials want a simultaneous announcement on both prices and wages and decided to give Ching's nine-man Wage Stabilization Board more time to complete its task.

A SPOKESMAN explained that Ching is seeking unanimity among the public, labor and industry members of his board on the wage formula and such agreement does not yet exist.

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston outlined the contemplated price-wage directive to the Defense Mobilization Board this morning and it received the unanimous OK of that high-level body.

The board is composed of cabinet members, and top mobilization officials of the government.

Johnston also conferred with Price Administrator Michael V. Disalle and Ching and told them the price-wage order must be issued this week.

The economic stabilizer urged Ching to do everything humanly possible to get the wage stabilization formula completed in the next 24 hours.

Ching planned to meet with the wage board members all day and tonight in an effort to meet Johnston's deadline.

When issued, the price-wage freeze will be effective immediately.

THE BUREAU of Labor Statistics said its retail price index climbed 1.6 percent to 178.4 percent of the 1935-39 average last (Continued on Page Two)

Family Food Bill Up 3.7 Percent In This Area

CHICAGO, Jan. 25—The U. S. Department of Labor reported today that the Central Ohio family food bill advanced 3.7 percent between mid-November and mid-December and the food-price index in the area reached its highest level since September, 1948.

According to Adolph O. Berger, north central regional director of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, all groups of food commodities contributed to the overall increase during the period.

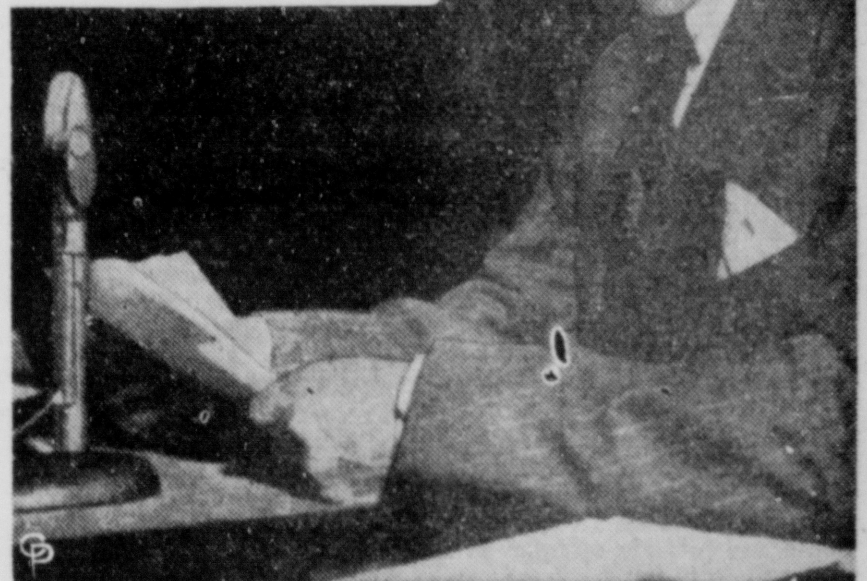

Meats, poultry and fish averaged 1.7 percent higher as beef and veal items increased 2.6 percent. Fresh and canned fish 1.9 percent, chickens 1.5 percent and lamb items .8 percent.

Fresh fruits and vegetables advanced 7.2 percent as cabbage prices increased 28.5 percent, potatoes 12.9 percent, fresh tomatoes 10 percent and oranges 3.9 percent.

Canned fruits and vegetables were up 1.5 percent and the dried items advanced 1.2 percent.

A three percent increase in the price of white bread resulted in an increase of two percent for cereals and bakery products. Egg prices advanced 20.9 percent, fats and oils moved up to 6.9 percent. Dairy products 1.1 percent, sugar and sweets .4 percent and beverages .1 percent during the period.

WARNING CONGRESS that the armed forces must be increased beyond 3,500,000 "if the situation worsens," Defense Secretary George C. Marshall reads a statement before the House Armed Services Committee. The secretary opposed a legal ban on combat use of 18-year-olds but explained his department's plan not to do so "barring a dire emergency." Marshall said that to reach goal set by Joint Chiefs of Staff for July, a million men must be called.

PANEL CHAIRMAN GIVES TIP

18-Year-Old Draft, UMT Seen Getting Approval

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—Chairman Vinson of the House Armed Services Committee predicted today his group will approve a draft of 18-year-olds and a Universal Military Training program.

Vinson said the "big fight" will come over lowering the draft age. At present, 18-year-olds register for service, but can not be inducted until they are 19.

The Georgia Democrat expressed confidence that when "the facts" have been presented to the committee "it will go along with taking 18-year-olds instead of drafting fathers and veterans."

Vinson told newsmen he is convinced the Defense Department will be able to prove the truth of Assistant Defense Secretary Anna Rosenberg's statement that non-veteran husbands and fathers will have to be called up "very soon" unless 18-year-olds are drafted.

MRS. ROSENBERG added that veterans will have to be inducted also if the international situation worsens, unless younger men are taken.

The chairman said he hoped the committee would begin voting on the administration's Universal Military Service and Training bill late next month following conclusion of the hearings now being held.

Vinson added that if it rejected the administration's proposal for a permanent system of four to six months military training for all physically-fit young men, then new draft legislation will have to be written. The Selective Service law expires in June.

Vinson said he was confident the committee will approve a Universal Military Training program because "we've got to obtain trained reserves or maintain for an indefinite period a large standing military force of three and one half million men or more."

Vinson asserted that continued maintenance of a large standing force would constitute "Prussianism."

Meanwhile, a move was underway in committee to write into the manpower bill an amendment barring the induction of 18-year-olds until the present 20 through 25 pool of eligible men is exhausted.

Mrs. Rosenberg, who testified yesterday, has been recalled for further questioning regarding Defense Department plans.

Draft Of 4-Fs Being Studied By Government

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—Assistant Defense Secretary Anna M. Rosenberg disclosed today that 4-Fs may be drafted by a lowering of physical and mental requirements for military service.

Mrs. Rosenberg testified that an announcement is expected to be made soon that the armed forces have agreed to reduce their physical and mental requirements.

This would result in taking into service almost one out of every five men already rejected and placed in the 4-F category as unfit for military duty.

Mrs. Rosenberg advised the committee at its hearings on the administration's bill to draft 18-year-olds that an order will be issued soon regarding voluntary enlistment.

She stated that its purpose will be to insure that the Airforce and Navy do not skin off the best men and leave the rest for the Army.

Mrs. Rosenberg, who is in charge of manpower problems for the Defense Department, explained:

"We hope the right to enlist will always be preserved with each service getting its proper share of mental and physical qualifications."

IN KOREA, Jan. 25—Corp. Gerald Boon of Lake Worth, Fla., had an escape from death today that would defy the imagination of a movie script writer.

The bullets missed him but struck the trailer under which he was crouching. The trailer blew up. It was loaded with ammunition.

Boon emerged unhurt.

In View Of The News

By J. C. Oestreicher
INS Foreign Director

Great Britain's extreme reluctance to support any measures that could lead to a complete and open break between the Western nations and Communist China has become overwhelmingly evident.

Prime Minister Attlee reported to the House of Commons on the Far Eastern situation when parliament reassembled after a long vacation recess.

The nub of his long and carefully thought out speech was contained in one sentence.

He said that Britain concedes that Communist China should be condemned for intervening in Korea in support of North Korean aggression.

But assisting an aggressor can be interpreted as something quite different from outright aggression. The United States wants China branded as an outright aggressor on the grounds that by pouring troops across the Manchurian border the Chinese started what Gen. Douglas MacArthur described as "a brand new war."

THE JOCKEYING for position in the grave Far Eastern crisis before the United Nations and before parliaments has few parallels in modern times.

It is inconceivable that the people of Britain needed the warning given by Winston Churchill of the "grave dangers" inherent in any major Anglo-American foreign policy split.

Yet he hammered away at this point. He warned also that efforts to divide the United Nations could benefit only Soviet Russia.

Nevertheless, it is clear that Britain is not prepared to go the whole distance in supporting the American stand at Lake Success.

Thus while the military complications in Korea grow, the diplomatic ones also increase out on Long Island, in Washington and in London and no clear solution of the manifold problem is anywhere in sight.

Attlee made it clear that Great Britain has not abandoned hope of peaceful negotiations. But at the same time he admitted that the latest "offer" from Peiping with regard to a Korean cease fire might turn out to be an Oriental trick—a conclusion that the Truman administration seems to have reached at the beginning.

The reasons for British hesitation at the present time are clear.

Already heavily committed on Malaya and elsewhere in the Far East, Britain cannot afford to risk any extension or prolongation of conflict.

BY THE SAME token, she can ill afford to tamper with the precarious protective military balance in Europe.

These two factors have combined to produce the repeated charges that Britain is being "half-hearted" both about fighting in Korea for the United Nations and in throwing in her weight in favor of a strong UN diplomatic stand.

Time and again British officials have tried to put over in an impressive manner how much military force and how much money Britain already has tied up in the Far East as anti-Communist bulwarks.

They have emphasized their action in terminating Marshal Plan aid before the due date as proof of Britain's desire to eliminate the heavy burdens that the East-West conflict have placed upon the treasury and people of the United States.

Yet the fact remains that it is hard for the American people to understand the British attitude, particularly when in the midst of the crisis large sections of the British press have embarked upon criticism of MacArthur and his handling of the rule of United Nations commander.

First Semester Exams Plaguing Local Pupils

Circleville high school boys and girls plunged into first semester examinations Thursday afternoon.

Semester exams for the city high school youngsters began with the Thursday afternoon session and are to continue all day Friday.

A testing period of not more than two hours for each academic subject is ahead of the boys and girls, with the results showing how much knowledge they have absorbed during the first half of the current school year.

The testing program means concentrated work for the youngsters, but added work for the teachers, who will have to grade each paper before issuing mid-year grades.

Report cards with the results of the first half year of work shown on them will be handed out Wednesday.

Woman, 34, Loses Rights For Drunk Driving

Mrs. Margaret Daugherty, 34, of Grove City lost her driving right for one year Wednesday after pleading guilty in Pickaway County common pleas court to being in physical control of an auto while intoxicated.

Judge William D. Radcliff in addition to suspending her driver's license fined the defendant $25 and costs.

Mrs. Daugherty was arrested by Sheriff Charles Radcliff and Deputy Sheriff Walter Richards on Route 762 after her car went off the road into a ditch.

She was bound over to Pickaway County grand jury on $300 bond by Magistrate Oscar Root in a preliminary hearing Wednesday. The case was taken before Judge Radcliff later in the day on an information filed by County Prosecutor Guy Cline.

month—the largest gain in more than two years.

At the end of 1950, the consumer price yardstick was 4.8 percent above the level at the outbreak of the Korean war. Food prices went up 2.8 percent from Thanksgiving to Christmas. House furnishings advanced 1.2 percent and clothing 0.7 percent.

DiSalle and his aides, foreseeing further upward trends in living costs unless the government acts, hoped to get a price freeze policy ready by nightfall, but there was a distinct possibility the action may not come before tomorrow.

A member of the Defense Mobilization Board said that group is solidly behind freeze action and will offer no barrier to DiSalle's proposal.

In addition to Wilson, members include the secretaries of Labor, Commerce, Interior, Agriculture and Defense, the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board and the chairman of the National Security Resources Board, W. Stuart Symington.

The board reportedly has been backing drastic anti-inflation action for the last two or three weeks, ever since DiSalle first advanced his idea for a temporary 30-day price freeze.

That proposal was over-ruled by Former Economic Stabilizer Alan Valentine, subsequently replaced by Johnston.

JOHNSTON IS LINED up with DiSalle in support of immediate price-wage controls.

As his first action after taking office yesterday, Johnston delegated to DiSalle and Ching operating authority in the price-wage field. They will function, however, subject to the supervision and direction of Johnston.

DiSalle announced his recommendations for a general price freeze after testifying yesterday before the Joint Congressional Economic Committee. He said the freeze action will cover meat prices, a difficult item to control, and will involve a rollback of prices from current levels.

Discharged from service in October, 1945, he again contacted state officials with a request for clemency. They suggested he return to the reformatory, but instead he went to Middleport and established his successful grocery business.

Damage Suit Being Heard In Court Here

A damage suit asking $1,200 was being heard Thursday before a petit jury in Pickaway County common pleas court.

The suit was filed in January, 1950, by Anthony Dattalo against Jack Ousley and grew out of a two-truck collision on U. S. Route 23 about four miles north of Circleville. The accident took place Oct. 4, 1949.

Plaintiff claims Ousley, driving south, attempted to pass another southbound vehicle and collided with the northbound Dattalo truck, operated by Anthony Dattalo Jr., causing injuries to Dattalo Sr. and damages to the truck.

Judge William D. Radcliff instructed Sheriff Charles Radcliff to take the jury to the scene of the accident Thursday morning.

UN Divisions Trap Large Commie Force In Korea

northwest of Yaju, 38 miles southeast of Seoul.

The Eighth Army's night summary said that in the flaming east-central sector tank-tipped UN patrols, supported by mobile artillery and swarming planes, knifed seven miles north from Yongwol during the morning.

These vanguard units reported making no contact with enemy forces which were apparently fleeing north after their unsuccessful attempts to infiltrate through Sobaek mountain passes into Southeast Korea.

INS War Correspondent Robert Schakne related in a field dispatch at 7:15 Thursday evening that UN "divisions" surrounded a "large force" of North Korean troops just southwest of Yongwol.

The dispatch said the Allied forces were "decimating" the trapped Reds in a battle to annihilate the enemy force.

Further details of the action were not permitted to pass through the Eighth Army's censorship for the present.

However, earlier advices had said that elements of a 30,000-troop North Korean force, including guerrillas and 500 Communist women armed with rifles, had lanced all the way down to and beyond Tanyang.

That town is 18 miles southwest of Yongwol and only 65 miles north of the old Pusan beachhead perimeter in Korea's southeast corner.

The present UN offensive action was evidently designed to destroy this enemy threat to the east flank and rear of the Allied troops in the central and west sectors.

He Starts Third Year Sans Pay

ELIZABETH, N. J., Jan. 25—Michael Nittoli, secretary of the Elizabeth Board of Health, began serving his third year on the job today without pay.

He started legal action in 1949 in an effort to force the health board to pay him $4,300 annually instead of the $3,000 fixed by the group. The case is still pending after several postponements.

Because of the suit, Nittoli has drawn no pay at all.

9 Denominations Agree On Merger

CINCINNATI, Jan. 25—Leaders of 16 million Protestants of nine denominations have agreed on a plan for a united Church of Christ.

Spokesmen at a church union conference in Cincinnati said last night the merger plan will be drafted and then submitted to local churches of each denomination for further consideration.

Denominations represented at the meeting were Evangelical and Reformed, Disciples of Christ, Congregational Christian, Methodist, African ME Zion, Colored Methodist, southern and northern branches of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. and the International Council of Community Churches.

New Magazine Changes Hands

NEW YORK, Jan. 25—The recently launched pocket-sized magazine "People Today" has switched hands and will be published by Hillman Periodicals, Inc., effective Feb. 13.

Weekly Publications, Inc., publishers of Newsweek, which founded the magazine on a test basis six months ago, announced disposal of the property last night.

"People Today" was said to have grown from 100,000 to 300,000 circulation in a group of test cities. Hillman, Inc., plans to expand distribution to a national basis and aim for 1,000,000 circulation.

Rubber Railroad Said Not Needed

CLEVELAND, Jan. 25—Lyle A. Soult, executive assistant to the president of the Nickel Plate Railroad, believes the construction of the proposed Ohio river-to-Youngstown conveyor belt is unnecessary.

Soult said the proposed belt would be a duplication of service and that 15,000 railroad workers would be out of jobs if the belt were constructed.

Soult told members of the Cleveland Press Club last night: "There is nothing the belt conveyor can do that the railroads can't do, and can't do cheaper."

DEATHS and Funerals

Wilberforce Bill Enters Senate

COLUMBUS, Jan. 25—Sen. Al Daniels (R-Greenfield) introduced a bill in the Ohio senate to create "the state college at Wilberforce." The college would be supported entirely by state funds.

The state college and the AME church-supported Wilberforce university split some time ago over the question of control policy. Since then the two schools have been operating independently of each other. Enactment of the Daniels bill into law would end all chance of re-consolidation.

Southpaws Better Than Right-Hands

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 25—The left-handers may not know what the right-handers are doing—but if it involves dexterity, the left-handers probably are doing it better.

That's the conclusion of three University of Wisconsin psychologists, Roger Davis, Robert Wehrkamp and Prof. Karl U. Smith, who say their tests show that southpaws can use their left hands faster than a right-hander and also are more adept at two-handed tasks.

CAP To Meet Here Thursday

A meeting of Circleville Civil Air Patrol unit has been scheduled for 7:30 p. m. Thursday in Elsea Airport hangar.

Purpose of the meeting, according to Warren Harmon of the airport, is to discuss membership and plans for a training program.

Harmon said another meeting has been set for next Tuesday. Heads of the Ohio CAP Wing from Wright-Patterson Field are expected to be present.

Local Trio Fined After Theft Of Gay Feed Sacks

A trio of Circleville mill workers, who may have been planning a feed sack shirt revue in the future, were fined Wednesday in Circleville mayor's court for petty larceny.

They are Albert Canter, 33, of 124 West Main street and Troy Reisinger, 26, and Seymour Stevens, 42, both of Clarksburg Route 1, who were fined for stealing printed feed sacks.

The John W. Eshelman and Sons Co. plant.

Each of the former employees was fined $50 and costs for stealing 10 of the sacks, valued at 50 cents each. The accusations were filed by Leslie Rihl, Eshelman plant superintendent.

Mayor Miller later suspended $25 from each of the fines.

The feed sacks, printed in gay colors and patterns, long have been used by housewives for cotton dress and apron material. In fact, foresighted feed manufacturers make up their sacks that way as an added incentive to purchasers of their feeds.

A standard contest in Pickaway County for many years has been a "feed sack revue" for local seamstresses.

Local officials said they had no information on whether the arrested trio intended to take a needle and thread in hand to produce gay shirts, shorts or whatever.

Auxiliary Patrol Parley Is Held

A group of 15 Pickaway County state highway patrol auxiliary members attended a district auxiliary meeting Wednesday in Columbus.

State Highway Patrolman Clyde Wells, instructor for the group, said the meeting consisted of addresses against Communism and outlined the training program for the new auxiliary members.

New training classes for the emergency organization have been set up in Circleville, Ashville and Williamsport by the American Legion posts there.

Looking Ahead

By George Benson
President
Harding College

Communism cannot conquer the world unless it can first cripple American industry. Stalin knows this. He knows that six years ago, at the height of World War II, American industry was producing as much war material as all the other nations combined.

In fact, American-made tanks and planes and guns flowing to Russia helped the Red Army hold Hitler at bay.

When and if the Communist armies make an all-out assault against the free world we may be sure Stalin will give the signal to saboteurs already carefully placed in our country to seriously cripple our industrial might.

It's doubtful that Red planes at this time could reach much of our industry with air-borne atomic bombs. So Stalin's present strategy almost certainly includes a plan to sabotage our industrial production — through cunning internal assembly line sabotage and by paralyzing strikes fomented by Communists who have wormed into influential places within industrial employee groups.

IF THE "WAR for survival" does come, a strike shutdown of length in one of our key industries could possibly mean the difference between victory or defeat.

In every nation outside the Iron Curtain the Communist Party membership, both open and secret, is concentrated in industrial employee groups. Probably they are strongest in France, Italy and England, where Communist-led strikes which have flared up many times in the last few years have revealed their power to cripple industry. But they are in strategic positions here too.

According to the FBI, most of the 55,000 known Communists are deployed in the industrial unions.

It is significant to note that when the Communists took over Russia in 1917 they did it with fewer party members in Russia than they have in the U. S. today.

J. Edgar Hoover, FBI chief, says: "The Communists, as a basic principle of infiltration, are interested in possessing strength in heavy industry; that is, coal, steel, rubber, automobiles, etc. It is here that, in event of an emergency, they can do their greatest harm. . . . Moreover, in these industries one Communist Party member located in a strategic job can wreak damage completely out of proportion to his own strength."

"THROUGH THIS heavy-industry concentration policy" the Communists are able to exercise a power far in excess of their numbers," the FBI chief said in an interview with the United States News. "In fact, one of the highest ranking leaders of Communism in the U. S. has openly admitted: The Communist Party bases its work directly upon the mills, mines and factories. Its principle is to make every shop a fortress for Communism. . . . It concentrates its work upon the heavy industries and those of a war character."

Recently I sat down in the general manager's office in a big plant whose products would be vital to a successful American war effort—a "heavy industry."

"Will you have a problem with Communists if you get into full war production?" I inquired. "We're hoping not," he said. "We've got 32 known Communies among our 12,800 men and women employees. Enough of our people know them so they're watched closely. I

School Reports May Tell Tale

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 — The District of Columbia plans to use school absence records to check on the possible launching of bacteriological warfare by an enemy.

District Health Director Daniel L. Seckinger, who said the plan will be followed in other U. S. cities, will receive weekly reports on pupil absenteeism from junior and senior high schools.

The reports will be forwarded to the public health service for analysis to determine if illness trends show a possibility they might be induced by designed spread of disease.

don't think they'll get by with anything."

"What about the hidden Reds," I asked. "No doubt we've got some," he said. "If they try anything openly, we can handle them. But if they resort to assembly line sabotage they might be able to do some damage to the war effort, until caught." And what about the "sabotage" strike?

"Well, I don't believe our men and women here could be pulled into anything like that, under any circumstances, if we get into full war production. They're good Americans and they're got as much at stake as anybody. There will be plenty of agitation elsewhere."

He mentioned an industry in another city. "That plant has got a bad situation," he said. "The Commies control the union. They'll try to make trouble." It is comforting to know that both the FBI and industrial management are alert to the danger and are preparing to cope with it. For our very existence as a nation depends on the unbroken production of great industries which have grown up in our private enterprise system.

Mingo Junction Wants To Know If It's A City

COLUMBUS, Jan. 25 — Mingo Junction wants to know—and in a hurry, please — whether it should elect city or village officials this year.

The new federal census apparently ended Mingo Junction's life as a city, since the population fell below 5,000. But those census figures have not been certified as yet by the Census Bureau.

Since candidacy petitions for municipal elections must be filed by Feb. 7, Jefferson County Prosecutor Casimir J. Borkowski sent an SOS to Attorney General C. William O'Neill to determine whether the would-be office-holders should file for city or village office.

A somewhat similar situation, in reverse, confronts Oxford, seat of Miami University, and Oberlin, seat of Oberlin college. The Bureau of the Census, the first time, figured college enrollments as being residents of the area in which the college is located. This would make cities of the two villages—but again the results have not yet been certified.

The residents of Oxford and Oberlin aren't too happy about the situation, since the students don't vote or pay taxes, and yet would force the communities to operate the more-expensive city governments.

Judge Accused To Taking Fee While On Bench

TOLEDO, Jan. 25 — A hearing on a brief charging that Judge Stanley Grzezinski unlawfully accepted a $600 fee while serving on the Toledo municipal court bench has been postponed one month.

The hearing, originally scheduled for today, was continued for 30 days by mutual agreement between attorneys for Judge Grzezinski and the grievance committee of the Toledo Bar Association.

The committee filed the brief in probate court late yesterday charging that Judge Grzezinski accepted $600 in estate attorney fees unlawfully.

The petition asked the court to disallow the fees which were allegedly paid the judge Aug. 20 and Oct. 4, 1947, out of the estate of Mrs. Mary Kaminiski.

The committee said Judge Grzezinski served continuously on the municipal court bench from Aug. 1, 1944, to the present and that the law provides that no judge of record in Ohio may practice law, either by appearing in court or by acting as advisory or consulting counsel.

LEAFLETS BEFORE BOMBS

Russian Folk, Not Atoms, Said Deterrent To WW111

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 — An escaped Soviet flier today pictured the unseen opposition of the Russian people as the greatest deterrent to World War III, and added the atomic bomb could either aid or boomerang against the U. S. if used against the Soviets.

The man is Peter Piragov, a Russian pilot who has been doing intelligence work for the U. S. Airforce ever since his dramatic air escape two years ago.

He said if A-bombs were dropped without warning over Russia, he believes they would inflame the people against America. Advance notice, on the other hand, would shift the blame to the Kremlin, he said.

"Every Russian newspaper, magazine and radio today," Piragov said, "is telling the people that America is an aggressor, that she is evil and grasping, that she wants to take Moscow."

"Suppose that America drops the atomic bombs on Russia—we drop them here, here and here. Many people, women and children, will be killed."

"Stalin will go on the radio and say, 'Russians, look about you what we have been saying of America is true.' And the people will say, 'yes, it is true.' This would be a great mistake."

THE BLUE-EYED, black-haired Piragov, a short, intense man, thrust both his hands toward the floor each time he spoke of falling bombs.

Making frequent use of a Russian-English dictionary and rising to his feet to punctuate his sometimes halting statements with vigorous gestures, the 30-year-old Russian said:

"Now, suppose in advance of the bombs we drop little papers (leaflets) that will talk to the people."

"The little papers will say: 'We are very sorry, Russians, but your town makes certain military techniques and in two days we must bomb it. Please take your women and children and go away from this town.'"

"Ah, but the Soviet government does not want the people to go away from the town. Because if they do, who will work?"

"So, the Soviet government will place guards to keep the people in the town. The guards will say, 'you stand here. . . you here. . . you here.'"

"There will be terror and panic. People who say 'I do not want to be killed' will be shot by the guards. I have seen just this when the Germans were near Moscow and the people wanted to flee."

"Then when the bombs fall and many are killed, the people will say, 'it is our own government has made us stay here; it is our own government has helped to kill our women and children.' You see?"

PIRAGOV DOES not accept entirely Winston Churchill's opinion that only fear of the atomic bomb has kept Russia from invading Western Europe.

"This is my opinion only," he said, "but I feel that if Stalin had the full belief (support) of his people, he would be in Europe tomorrow."

A very young baby's clothes should be put on over its feet.

A TEST PILOT for the Air Force Materiel Command, Lt. Austin A. Julian demonstrates at Dayton, O., a new plastic visor that literally glues a crash helmet to a flier's head. High-speed and high altitude bailouts from aircraft can now be made without fear of head injury or loss by the fighter pilots of vital oxygen equipment. (Central Press)

On the other hand, Rep. Lowell Fess (R-Greene) introduced a joint resolution to memorialize Congress to "go all out or get out" of Korea.

Man Awarded $100,000 Alimony In Divorce Case

CLEVELAND, Jan. 25—A socially prominent Greater Cleveland man yesterday was granted a divorce and $100,000 settlement from his millionaire wife.

Common Pleas Judge Samuel H. Silbert said the $100,000 alimony to Philip L. Wright, 47-year-old president of West Industries, Inc., may be paid in a lump sum or over a period of years.

Wright's wife, Mary Hughes, sued her husband for a divorce in 1948, but she subsequently withdrew her petition when he countered with a cross-petition charging her with gross neglect of duty.

Judge Silbert blamed excessive drinking by Mrs. Wright for disrupting relations between Wright and his wife and their two adopted children, aged 12 and 14.

Mrs. Wright's father left her an estate of about $1,500,000 when he died.

GERMAN REARMAMENT TOUCHY

Truman-Plevin Talk Seen As Red Propaganda Block

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—U. S. officials saw today in the forthcoming Truman-Plevin conference another major opportunity to demonstrate to Russia that Western Powers cannot be divided by Russian propaganda.

President Truman readily invited Rene Plevin to Washington when the French Prime Minister said he had important business to discuss. They will meet Monday and Tuesday.

In the diplomatic mill at the moment are notes from the U. S., Britain and France to Moscow asking for a clarification of the USSR's proposal for another Big Four conference of foreign ministers.

These notes were dispatched this week and there certainly could be no action before Plevin arrives in Washington.

Secretary of State Acheson, in so many words, denounced the Russian proposal because it would be limited to a discussion of "disarmament of Germany."

THIS, IN THE opinion of U. S. spokesmen, is the wedge Russia

Derby

January meeting of Derby W. C. T. U. was held at home of Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Bretz. This was an all day meeting with covered dish luncheon at noon.

Derby—Mrs. Etta Hotchkiss of Logan has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ridgway.

Derby—Eugene Peterson left last Friday for Camp Knox in Ky. where he is in camp.

Derby—Mr. and Mrs. Donald Vanatta and children of Baltimore spent Friday night and Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton.

Derby—Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Ridgway and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Furniss were Sunday dinner guests of Myron Furniss and family of Briggsdale.

Derby—A baby boy was born Monday at Doctors' Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Funk.

is trying to drive between the major Western Powers. Plevin's visit for this reason will be welcome.

French opinion kept the United States from rejecting outright the Moscow proposal. It is recognized here, however, that rearmament—not disarmament—of Western Germany is a touchy subject with the French.

French fear of German resurgence, in Washington's opinion, is what the Russians were playing on when they proposed the Big Four meeting exclusively devoted to the German problem.

The Paris government already has considerably modified its opposition to inclusion of West German troops in Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's North Atlantic defense army.

U. S. officials would like to see many more of the French objections withdrawn.

Rearmament of Western Germany presents Russia with a major menace. The Germans have no love for the Russians, as the result of the last war, and they would be fighting for preservation of their homeland should the Communists attack.

The discussions next week will give Plevin an opportunity to make political capital at home—and, Washington hopes—bring about a better understanding of the urgent need for inclusion of West Germany in the North Atlantic defense effort.

Tragic To Be Fat— Nice To Be Slender!

If you suffer the tragic handicap of being overweight, you will be interested in the heart-warming experience of Maggie Hall.

Here is her own statement: "I sure bless the day I heard about Renna Concentrate. I could write all day and still not praise Renna enough for what it has done for me. I was so overweight that my feet and legs pained constantly. Now after losing 74 lbs. I have no more pain. I can go about my housework easily. I certainly am grateful to Renna for taking off this excess weight."

It's amazing how quickly you can lose unsightly fat at home. Obtain 4 ounces of liquid Renna Concentrate at your druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple easy way to lose ugly fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves, just return it for your money back. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. Insist on Renna.

FUTILE AND COWARDLY
IT HAS been apparent for a long time that the United Nations will make no progress toward world peace, or anything else except war to be fought by American boys, as long as Russia remains a member with the power to veto any action toward world amity.

The situation is further complicated by the attitude of England, France and other nations with fuzzy-headed leaders who have gone all-out for appeasement of Red China at any cost, even to the point of placing the blame for the fighting in Korea on the United States, and leaving this country to extricate itself from the mess as best it can.

What should the United States do in such circumstances? Two courses are open.
Being the financial angel of that organization, the United States can demand that Russia be kicked out of the United Nations.
Britain, of course, would oppose such a move, but it might be possible to gain sufficient support for it to put it across.

If that cannot be brought about, then the United States should withdraw its own membership and leave the others to the mercy of Russian intrigue. The outfit should, of course, be ordered to leave the United States, so it could no longer function as a haven for Russian spies.

The United Nations, as now organized, is both futile and cowardly. There isn't enough backbone in the whole outfit to meet the most simple world problem to come before it. It is an international pink tea that is not worth the life of a single American boy, in Korea or elsewhere.

The prediction that war may become so expensive no nation can afford to start one will not come true so long as the bill can be left for other generations to pay.

Regardless of whether this is the day for stories from Washington to predict the imminence of food rationing, or to deny it, or to describe government action to hold down prices, it is a safe bet that the government will buy more "surplus" food to hold up prices before the sun goes down.

Harder days are ahead for the American people, it is being repeated several times a day in high places, approximately 18 years after the populace was assured all it had to fear was fear itself.

We wish that all products were as good as the advertisements suggest they are.

There are two types of people: those who worship money and those who do not.

George E. Sokolsky's
These Days

It used to be that a man with an idea or an ambition wrote a book and got a publisher to project it to the public. Some newspapers and magazines turned to learned men to comment on the book. That neither made nor killed the book. Nor did any one publication have a monopoly of book reviewing or of book advertising.

Actually no publication enjoys a full monopoly in this reviewing field today. But because publishers have found it cheaper to place advertisements in fewer publications, three of them have become foremost in this field, namely, the book sections of the Sunday New York Times, the Sunday
Herald Tribune and the Saturday Review of Literature.

Librarians often make their purchases of new books on the basis of what these three publications say about a book, which is a lazy way of doing things—but then we live in a lazy, 40-hour week world. Should a particular group of reviewers gain currency in all these publications, a book could be killed by common consent among them.

Now along comes Irene Corbally Kuhn, a responsible journalist with a long experience, who writes an article for the American Legion Magazine entitled "Why You Buy Books That Sell Communism." It is an important article in these days.

She makes the point that not only librar-ians but saleswomen in bookshops are influenced by book reviews in these publications. Mrs. Kuhn says:

The saleswoman "guided her purchases of books, especially reorders, by what the reviewers said. She fet the 'experts' those big important newspapers chose to review for them knew more about books than she did."

Mrs. Kuhn then shows conclusively that there is a leftwing literary network consisting of interchangeable writers and reviewers who praise each other's works and who either condemn, ignore or slander the works of conservative writers. This was equally true, for many years, of editors and readers for magazines and publishing houses.

I had a peculiar experience in 1942, when Doubleday, Doran asked me to do a book.
I had no particular desire to write a book of any kind at that time but I said that I would be willing to consider one subject, namely, "Asia for the Asiatics."

I wanted—mind you, this was 1942—to show that all Asiatics hate the Europeans and Americans because of Anglo-Saxon racial superiority and that one of the results of the war then going on, whether Japan won or lost, would be that the Asiatic would seek to drive the white man off his continent.

The editor seemed to be quite enthusiastic, while we conversed, but subsequently turned the idea down on the grounds that it was not timely.

That did not bother me, for with my obligations what they are, this would have been a terrific chore both of research and writing. The fact that events turned out as I had then indicated, only shows what the real nonsense of 'timeliness' is. However, I learned later that the opposition to the book came from a leftwing group.

Causes of Painful Shoulder

By HERMAN M. DUNDESEN, M.D.

PAINFUL shoulder is a common complaint among people of middle age. Such pain may have many different causes, so that the real necessity in these cases is accurate diagnosis. This requires an X-ray examination of the shoulder joint and upper part of the spine. Once the exact nature of the condition is known, the X-ray may also serve as the best means of treatment, since many such conditions can be relieved by radiation.

Persistent pain in the shoulder and arm frequently is present when there is arthritis in the joints of the upper part of the spine. This occurs most often in persons between 50 and 70 years of age. In about three out of four patients with this condition,
X-ray treatments produce relief of the symptoms. Pain is often relieved during the period of treatment, though in other cases the relief occurs in from two to four weeks after the treatment has been completed.

X-Ray Treatment
It would appear that the X-ray treatments increase the flow of blood to the area, and also have some effect on the nerves passing to the shoulder from the spinal cord.

Another cause of shoulder pain is neuritis or neuralgia of these nerves. X-ray treatments are also helpful in this disorder.

Another common cause of shoulder pain is inflammation of the tendons, tissues around the shoulder joints, and bursa, which is a sac containing fluid near the shoulder joint. This latter condition is known as bursitis.

When shoulder pain occurs from these conditions, the symptoms are usually acute, coming on suddenly, with the pain passing upward from the shoulder into the neck. There is some tenderness over the shoulder joint, and movement of the arm is limited. These symptoms may

SYNOPSIS
Was Glendon Coldfield a suicide or was he murdered by a member of the very conservative and literary family, to conceal a family scandal? That is the question which the victim's widow, Sylvia Coldfield, asks bibliophile-detective Henry Gamadge to answer. Gamadge plans a bold strategy to rescue Sylvia from the family surveillance under which she is literally held prisoner. In the misty old shop of J.
Hall, collector of rare books and letters, Gamadge turns up a clue which may prove motive for the Coldfield murder. With his trusted friend, Harold, Gamadge drives from New York to the Coldfield Hudson valley home. They find the family assembled at dinner. Getting into the house by means of a ruse, Gamadge "snatches"
Sylvia as she flies out of the dining room.

CHAPTER NINE
GAMADGE had a view of three women coming from the dining-room, pausing, staring; he heard Harold's calm voice: "Car for you, Mrs. Coldfield," and saw him cut her off from the others as neatly as a sheep-dog. He didn't have to touch her—she came out of the house like a sleep-walker, straight to the car and into it. Harold, right behind her, had slammed the door shut and was holding it.
Gamadge lunged himself into the back of the car. Harold let go of the doorknob and tumbled behind the wheel. There was a double slam and they were off up the drive. They had almost reached the route before Gamadge got himself twisted around to look out of the rear window. A big man in dinner clothes stood only a few yards up the drive, and three other people were grouped behind him, like images.

"Gave them a surprise," he said, and couldn't help laughing. But he was surprised himself when he turned back to look at the passenger huddled in the other corner, and saw that she was laughing too.

It wasn't hysteria, although she gagged between fits of the laughter. She managed to speak, "It was so funny. So funny."

"It was, now you mention it," said Gamadge. "That man, that wonderful man.
Who is he?"

"Bantz? He's a research chemist. Now don't let this kill you—he was a marine."

There was a certain wildness in her laughter now, and Gamadge said hastily, "Here, let me put this coat on you." He got Clara's top-coat around her shoulders. "And we'll have a drink. I need one too," he told her, filling the top of the brandy-flask. "It wasn't so funny until we put it through," he went on. And as she drank, "It wouldn't have been funny at all if you hadn't been magnificent. I never saw anything like the way you came through that door. Clockwork."

"But it was a car I'd been wanting so. I could never have got past the gates at any time without a car. And"—she looked at him, still smiling a little—"I'd had your message."

"Didn't that amuse you? I hoped it would."

"To think that Georgette gave it to me!"

To us they bequeath the snow

Lee Lyles, of the Santa Fe system, tells of the seedy looking gent who stumbled into a parlor car, and obviously held a ticket for the seat directly opposite a very correct lady, with a Boston accent, and a bespectled little girl on her lap, who looked just as disapproving and superior.

The lady obviously found the proximity of the seedy gent highly objectionable. In fact, she took the extraordinary step of leaning across the aisle and whispering,
"I think you should know that my little girl is just recuperating from a bad case of small-pox, which is still probably contagious."

"Don't let that worry you for a moment," said the seedy one mournfully. "I'm going to cut my throat in the first tunnel anyhow."

An English poet, having become a citizen of the United States, was citing the benefits achieved by this step to a group of old compatriots in London.
"And to cap it all," he concluded, "I am now one of the victors of the American Revolution."

NEW YORK—This is the mecca to which flock
the boy prodigies; they come from Rome, from Copenhagen, from East Peoria, in their short pants and long hair and their batons or oboes under their arms, to dazzle the clientele with their musical genius. It also is the place where one of these prodigies—an authentic one who played with the Dallas Symphony when he was nine and conducted at the LaScala Opera House in Milan when he was 15—works as a messenger boy for a movie company.

This unusual soul is Robert Hoebel, a 19-year-old native of Buffalo who passes the time of day ferrying around inter-office memos in the Universal-International Pictures headquarters on the upper reaches of Park avenue.

It is not as if Mr. Hoebel had passed his prodigy days and, like so many youthful geniuses, is burned out musically.
He still is a talented conductor and composer; he plays a hundred and four musical instruments reasonably well and four of them exceptionally well, and only recently he took time out from messaging to conduct the San Francisco Civic Opera orchestra in Cavalleria Rusticana and Il Pagliaccio.

What his odd situation amounts to is this: Hoebel has been working so hard and so intensely at his music all his life that his mentors advised him to take some other kind of work that would be less of a strain, for a little while.

He decided to do the kind of work that any 19-year-old boy might do—thus we find him at Universal-International. By sheerest coincidence, his presence there was brought to this department's attention about the time a new movie named Prelude to Fame, in which a 12-year-old boy conducts a symphony orchestra, was released.

Opportunities Increasing Daily For Women, Says National BPW Secretary

Ex-Localite Visits Here

"There are definitely more and more opportunities opening every day to women, and women are going to have to prepare themselves for the forward step into full partnership with their men in order to meet the needs that are arising out of the present world situation," according to Mrs. George Krendell of New York City, formerly Esther Young of Circleville.

Mrs. Krendell, recently appointed executive director of the National Business and Professional Women's Club, is the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Judge and Mrs. George Young of East Union street, and her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Simkins of South Court street.

The new National Business and Professional Women's Club executive went to New York about seven years ago and worked for a time as receptionist in the Conover Modeling Agency. She later took over the Conover Children's Bureau, supplying photogenic children as models to many advertising agencies.

Mrs. Krendell declared that "most of the children we see pictured in newspapers, and magazine advertisements were obtained from such an agency."

While with the children's department, where she handled children ranging in age from a few months to teen-agers, the number of boys and girls available to the professional photographers was increased from 25 to more than 1000.

After her marriage, Mrs. Krendell left the business world, but soon discovered that housework did not use all her time or capacity so she returned to the advertising field, this time with the Hartford modeling agency.

Mrs. Krendell feels that training as a model has many advantages, even if the young woman does not actually become a professional model.

According to Mrs. Krendell, "Modeling schools provide excellent background for almost any profession. If a young woman is well poised, knows how to select and wear clothes, how to walk properly, and most of all, feel sure of herself, it will help her in almost any field she chooses to enter."

When asked about the new Spring styles being shown in the metropolitan shops, she was very enthusiastic concerning the new colors.

She said that "pink—every shade of pink—from the intense 'snocking pink' to a pale delicate shell-pink; combinations of different shades of the same color such as mauve and violet; black with touches of white, and a lot of checks; blues, grays, and gray combinations will also be worn this season."

Concerning her work with the BPW organization, the executive secretary was very positive in saying that each local club has its own problems and must meet them according to the local situation; that the national organization seeks to advance the status of women all over the nation, and to only assist the local groups in promoting a national program.

Mrs. Krendell spoke with pride of the organization she serves which began in 1919 with a few members and is now comprised of 2700 clubs in Hawaii, Cuba and the United States with a total membership of 160,000.

Mrs. Krendell had a special word for the women of Circleville:

"Do whatever you are doing the best you possibly can—keep yourself informed and ever ready for the opportunity which may come to you."

The hair of persons constantly handling crude aniline often turns a reddish brown.

Sorority Here Turns Drudgery Into Funfest

A task, which most organizations dislike, was made into fun Wednesday evening when Sigma Phi Gamma sorority members counted sales tax stamps as part of the evening's diversion.

COOKBOOK of the WEEK
FROM THE COLLECTION OF
24 OF THE WORLD'S GREATEST COOKBOOKS
Sponsored by this Newspaper

Good pie is a joy to the baker and the eater and it is no problem to produce with the aid of "250 Superb Pies and Pastries." The Circleville Herald's fifth release in the Culinary Arts Institute Cookbook series.

If you are an inexperienced cook you will have no trouble following the step-by-step description and illustrations in this wonderful cookbook, and if you are an old hand at pie-baking you will be thrilled at the many novel suggestions and recipes.

One unusual idea is this cottage cheese topping for a cherry pie. To make it you bake a cherry pie without a top crust. When it is cool force cottage cheese through a pastry tube into a lattice pattern over the top.

You can use fresh or canned cherries and any recipe you are accustomed to following, but here is a good recipe for canned cherry pie that you will surely want to try:

RED CHERRY PIE
1 No. 2 can tart red cherries

2 1/2 tablespoons granulated tapioca
1 tablespoon melted butter
1-5 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar,
1 teaspoon flour
2 drops red food coloring
1 recipe Plain Pastry

Mix cherries and juice with next 6 ingredients and let stand for 15 minutes. Stir well. Line piepan with pastry, pour in filling and cover with top crust. Bake in very hot oven (450 deg. F.) 10 minutes; reduce to moderate (350 deg. F.) and bake about 25 minutes longer. Makes 1 (9-inch) pie.

Besides pies the Pie Book covers dumplings, tarts, Danish pastry, puffs and many other fancy pastries with illustrations of novel ways of serving. To get your copy of the Pie Book simply present 15 cents to your independent grocery in Circleville.

Old Circleville Stickers Under Strong Demand

Mac Noggle, Circleville's number-one historical booster, reached for his telephone this week to order a repeat printing job.

He had a hunch he soon would be rushed.

Seems that the local Junior Women's Club used a batch of Noggle's "Old Circleville" circular stickers to make impressive place cards for a semi-formal dinner the club was giving.

The women made up a fanfold place card with the circle stickers as predominating theme.

The stickers show a drawing which reproduces the street layout of this city before that infamous day in the early 1800s when the city was "squared."

Noggle, executive vice-president of Circleville Third National Bank, has a large supply of the stickers, available in two sizes and free for the asking.

The local historian, long a leader of a campaign to preserve this city's unusual beginning, has continually offered to supply the stickers to any person or firm without charge. He stresses that the stickers should be placed on out-going mail as an advertisement of the city.

With the creation by the Junior Women's Club, Noggle has a hunch many other local groups will utilize the stickers on place cards, especially at occasions when out-of-town guests are to be present or when local history is to be stressed during the program.

'51 Animal Crop Needs Special Care

Suggestions Made By Health Experts

COLUMBUS, Jan. 25—Heavy demand for meat and dairy products in 1951 gives farmers extra reason for saving this year's Spring pigs, calves and lambs, the American Foundation for Animal Health reported today.

To help farmers save more of this year's young animal crop, foundation authorities offered these suggestions:

- "Feed the mother animals a balanced ration, providing animal proteins, vitamins and minerals, including legume hay.
- "Keep brood sows, cows and ewes comfortable and clean, free from mites, lice and filth.
- "Have the new animals born in clean pasture—or in clean, dry, well-bedded quarters, free from chilly drafts.

"TOWARD THE END of the gestation period, be alert to assist at birth if necessary. Disinfect the navels of the young.

"Be sure newborn animals are nursing properly. Calves need colostrum (first milk after calving). Have clean sod accessible to pigs up to three weeks old.

"Watch for scouring; it may be a sign of improper feeding, over-feeding, or of disease.

"Around weaning time, have pigs vaccinated against hog cholera. Consult a veterinarian on the need for vaccination of other stock in light of local disease conditions.

"At the first sign of ailing health in breeding stock or young animals, obtain a diagnosis. Find out whether disease, parasites or faulty nutrition is responsible. Corrective action, started promptly, may save the lives of many young animals."

Tougher Rent Control Law Being Sought

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 — A reliable source said today that Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson is studying a plan to impose tough federal rent controls similar to those existing during World War II.

If Wilson and President Truman OK the proposal, congressional enactment will be sought before the present stop-gap law dies March 31. The proposed law reportedly contains these features which would make it much tougher than the present law and, in fact, reminiscent of the stringent regulations in effect during World War II:

1. The rent administrator would be permitted to reimpose controls in areas he has already decontrolled if he finds ceilings are again required by the defense effort and military expansion.
2. He would be empowered to cancel out decontrol actions taken by states and localities under the "local option" sections of the present law.

3. HE WOULD BE permitted to roll back rents to a level existing not earlier than June 1, 1950, with special provisions for the adjustment of hardship cases.

4. Eviction provisions would be tightened to give tenants the same broad protections that they had during the housing shortage of World War II.

5. Enforcement provisions also would be tightened, with a return of the wartime emergency court of appeals in Washington to settle disputes.

Girl Reporter Gives Data On Her Recent Operation

By INEZ ROBB
INS Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 25—"Speaking of operations," wrote the late Irvin S. Cobb in 1915, "if an operation is such a good thing to talk about, why isn't it a good thing to write about, too?"

So the late Mr. Cobb wrote himself a small book "Speaking of Operations," which got him off the nut at the hospital and paid his quacks.

It has gone through dozens of editions, sold more than 300,000 copies, sells steadily today and is still pouring money into the till of his heirs and assigns.

While I was recently in a hospital drydock for repairs, a friend sent me Mr. Cobb's tome. It is a very funny blow-by-blow description of an operation from first examination to final feather-switching. But as I read Mr. Cobb's confessions, it occurred to me that the book is at least as historic as it is hilarious.

IT IS OBVIOUS that hospital and operative techniques have so changed that Mr. Cobb's memoirs might just as readily have been written in the dark ages as only 36 years ago.

I read with envy and disbelief the basis of one of Mr. Cobb's biggest beefs: That he was forced to spend ten days flat on his back following his encounter with the men in white.

Let me tell you there is none of this leisure or self-indulgence permitted in the modern hospital! The medics and nurses can scarcely wait for a victim to come clean from the anaesthetic before beginning setting up exercises and advanced calisthenics.

I was scarcely conscious enough to ask for a martini when my nurse had me up before an open window throwing out my chest, something I am barely able to do even when in the pink.

And when, four or five hours on the side of the operating room, I suggested delicately that I would like to visit the bathroom, my nurse said: "Sure, why not? It's over in that corner."

I'll say this for the girl: She did stick my slippers on my feet, and when I looked at her with reproachful gaze, she had the grace to shrug and say: "Things are tough all over."

From her attitude, I gathered she deemed me lucky to have been born into an era with the plumbing indoors.

MR. COBB OBJECTED violently to the hospital smell "compounded of iodoform, ether, gruel and something boiling. All hospitals have it," he wrote. But not any more. The hospital in which I was stashed looks and is operated exactly like a hotel. "Your home away from home," including revolving bellhops and room service.

And as for ether: I believe this is regarded as irrelevant, immaterial and old-fashioned as of 1951. No more is a cone fitted over the schnozz, with the slow drip, drip of ether as in Mr. Cobb's case. Now, a fast jab in the arm with some kind of new anesthetic and the patient is out with the speed of jet propulsion, which is faster than light and just as easy.

I came to clear of mind, bright of eye, pink of cheek, and feeling like a million less the surgeon's usual ten percent.

Indeed, I thought I must be in heaven, for there were three handsome men regarding me admiringly. I took a second look and perceived that one was the sawbones, one the family physician and one my spouse.

"Unless she steps in front of a truck," the first was saying to my loved one, "you're stuck with her for another fifty-sixty years."

Mr. Cobb complained bitterly that he would have starved to death if had not surreptitiously taken to licking stamps. Apparently the practice now is to stuff the patient, as banana splits and roast beef reinforced with lamb chops were always turning up on my trays.

ON THE WHOLE, I would say that hospital life today is definitely (1) more pleasant and (2) more strenuous than in Mr. Cobb's time.

However, one factor remains constant. Mr. Cobb frankly said he wrote the book about his operation because he needed money. "Verily, one always needs money when one has but recent-

AIR STRIKES ARE FEARED

North Korean Believes UN Eventually To Win War

IN KOREA, Jan. 25—A captured North Korean sergeant said today most of his countrymen believe United Nations forces eventually will win the Korean war by sheer fire power.

Sgt. Kim Yong Chan, 22, said he and his comrades feel the Communist "human sea" tactics must fail in the long run in the face of formidable Allied air and artillery fire.

Kim was captured by an American patrol as he wandered through a dawn fog in no man's land. A Korean interpreter with the patrol shouted:

"We are North Koreans. Come on over."

Kim did and was captured. But the North Korean sergeant said he felt happy about it because as soon as the fog lifted United Nations fighter aircraft came over and dropped napalm bombs on the remainder of his company.

KIM SAID THE constant fear of air attack and shelling plays on the nerves of North Korean troops.

"I haven't seen a smiling face in many weeks," he said. "Everybody is grim all the time. No one makes jokes."

The North Korean sergeant said Communist troops never light fires for fear of air observation. He explained:

"Airplanes worry us the most. As soon as we hear them coming, we run and hide. I've seen napalm bombs landing among troops and it's a horrible and fearsome sight. Some of our men are brave and don't hide from airplanes but they get killed sure enough."

Kim was a rice farmer in a tiny village north of Pyongyang before he joined the army in 1948.

He said most North Korean troops like Russians and Americans, but hate the Chinese. Asked why he hated Chinese, he could not give a definite answer, saying:

"We do not mind the Japanese so much in comparison. We like the Russians. They look just like you United Nations forces."

"We have no particular dislike of Americans or British either. But we hate the Chinese. We always have nationally."

Kim's only criticism of United Nations forces concerned ground tactics.

"They let us move around in the hills," he said. "They keep to the roads all the time. If they played guerrilla tactics more we wouldn't have a chance."

Smoking an American cigaret and drinking hot coffee, Kim declared:

"This is the happiest day in my life in the last three years. If you let me go right now, I wouldn't go back."

Land Transfer Gets Approval

Application for transfer of a one-half interest in .6488 acre in Harrison Township, part of the Roy H. Teegardin estate, to Helen A. Teegardin has been approved by Judge George D. Young in Pickaway County probate court.

The estate has been ruled not subject to inheritance tax.

Ex-Mate Cited For Contempt

Robert Perlee McCague has been ordered to appear in Pickaway County common pleas court to answer a contempt of court accusation contained in a motion filed by his former wife, Mary Elizabeth McCague.

The wife claims the husband has failed to support their children in accordance with a former court order. Hearing has been set for 10:30 a. m. Monday.

Cost Of War: 46,201 Casualties

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 — The Defense department announced yesterday that the official list of American casualties in Korea now totals 46,201, an increase of 1,064 over last week.

The new total includes 6,693 deaths; 30,251 wounded of whom 780 have died; and 9,257 missing, of whom 26 are known to have died in Communist prisons.

Vaccination OK'd By High Court

COLUMBUS, Jan. 25 — The state supreme court is on record today with a decision that a board of education ruling to require vaccination of all pupils does not violate the constitutional right to religious freedom.

The court decided yesterday

Hamilton County courts were right in denying a mandamus to Edward Dunham who sought to compel the Cincinnati schools to admit his son without vaccination for smallpox.

Dunham had claimed any kind of medication was against his religious principles. However, the high court decided Ohio law gives boards of education the right to exclude persons who have not been vaccinated.

Idle Pay Claims Drop Sharply In Pickaway

New claims for unemployment compensation in Pickaway County dropped sharply last week. Continued claims increased.

According to a statistical report from the state Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, only 27 new claims were filed last week, a drop of 61 from the 88 filed the week before.

Continued claims, however, rose from 205 for the week before last to 254 last week. Continued claims are those filed by claimants who have been unemployed for one week or more and have filed claims over the period.

The drop in new claims for compensation was general throughout the state. Total new claims throughout the state last week was 8,881, compared to 11,502 for the week before.

Continued claims on a state wide basis also were down. From 43,684 for the week before last to 42,783 last week.

Editor Wins Dispute With Magistrate

COLUMBUS, Jan. 25 — The state supreme court of appeals which granted a mandamus requiring Justice of the Peace G. R. Schuller to certify the case of Locke Miller vs. William F. Maag Jr. to the grand jury.

Maag, editor of the Youngstown Vindicator, asked for the mandamus after he had pleaded not guilty and posted cash in lieu of bond in answer to a charge by Miller that he had refused to publish a correction of what Miller claimed was a false article written about him.

The high court held that because the magistrate's court did not have jurisdiction over the question, "the justice of the peace is bound to perform the ministerial duty of referring the cause to the grand jury for final determination."

The supreme court refused to hear the appeal of Frank C. Richmond of Youngstown from lower courts ruling a partnership between Richmond, Henry S. Hickey and others should be dissolved.

Richmond charged his former partners had conspired to get rid of him in the operation of an auto agency.

Supreme Court Agrees To Hear Insurance Case

COLUMBUS, Jan. 25 — The Ohio supreme court has agreed to hear the appeal of Emma E. Carson, seeking double indemnities from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Companies in connection with the death of her husband, James, a Cincinnati service station owner.

Mrs. Carson claimed her husband, shot to death in his station with a 1917 gun which would explode if the hammer were struck, died accidentally.

However, the lower courts agreed with the company, which claimed Carson was a suicide, that Mrs. Carson was required to prove he died accidentally in order to collect double indemnities, and that she had not done so.

Mrs. Carson claimed the courts were wrong in these contentions, that she was required only to show death occurred in a manner "not wholly inconsistent with accident," and that the coroner's report and a death certificate showing suicide to be the cause of death should not have been admitted as evidence.

$500 A MINUTE COUNTED

Treasury Uses New Device To Count Old Dollars

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—An economy-minded U. S. Treasury Department has come up with a new twist in labor-saving devices—a machine to count old dollar bills.

Secretary Snyder announced the development of an "electric eye" counter to thumb through the five million torn and tattered paper dollars that have to be retired daily.

The Treasury will install 25 of the machines to replace—at an annual saving of $250,000—80 employees who now do the job by hand.

The machines each count more than 500 dollars a minute, eight times as fast as the average employee. And they don't mind the smell, either.

The electric eyes will take over the job of checking the silver certificates that come into the Treasury for redemption after banks decide they've outlived their usefulness.

FEDERAL RESERVE banks bind the old bills in bundles of 100 and cut them in half, but the Treasury rechecks the count just to make sure.

The new machines, developed by the Bureau of Standards, reject packages that don't contain exactly 100 bills after counting them by means of a light beam that actuates a photo-electric system.

New money has been machine-counted for years, but until now no mechanical device had been able to keep an accurate count of bills that were wrinkled and dog-eared.

The average life of a dollar bill is about nine months—and with more than a billion in circulation just replacing the old ones is a big job.

Last year alone, 1,138,588,540 dollar bills were sent in for redemption—nearly 25 million pounds in all.

Coins, fortunately, have a much longer life span. The average life of the nearly one and a half billion dollars worth of coins of all types currently held by the public is 25 to 30 years.

Total circulation, in case you would like to know whether you've got your share, is about $27 billion—$180 for every man, woman and child in the country.

'Voice' Winks At Rapid Rise Of Joe's Son

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—The Voice of America takes a very dim view of the qualifications of Premier Joseph Stalin's son, Vassily, who is about to become a delegate to the Supreme Soviet.

In a satirical skit, the U.S. broadcasting operation pointedly referred to the fact his marks at Public School 25 in Moscow were only "fair" and once in a while "good."

It was developed that the teacher had been a "decadent and bourgeois man, prey to every deviation," who wound up in another profession—"gold mining."

Emphasis also was placed on Vassily's spectacular rise in the Red army. It was pointed out he was a colonel at the age of 22, heavily emblazoned with decorations, and a lieutenant general at the age of 29, in command of Moscow air force units.

The Voice of America skit portrayed two Russian comrades in conversation with young Stalin, laying plans to build him up, not only to the Russian people but to the outside world, as a worthy delegate to the Supreme Soviet.

At conclusion of the skit, Vassily got tough and reminded his two comrades he was lunching at the Kremlin that day and might have to make reports on the attitudes of certain people.

NO AID TO OSU PRESTIGE

Fesler To Become Head Coach For Minnesota

COLUMBUS, Jan. 25—Wesley Fesler, the Ohio State university gridiron coach who surprised them all by resigning Dec. 9, has set the pigskin rosters to rocking again today by taking over as head football coach at Minnesota.

The 42-year-old Buckeye pilot announced late yesterday he will sign a three-year contract to succeed Bernie Bierman as mentor of the Golden Gophers.

Fesler, the football leader at OSU during the last four years, will take a $1,000 cut in his salary and take on the Gophers' leadership for $14,000 a year.

The same Fesler, who resigned because of the "strain" of football and the same Fesler who wanted only to enjoy his home life as an insurance salesman in Columbus, said he changed his mind because football is "what I'm made for."

THE APPOINTMENT was confirmed last night between Minnesota Athletic Director Ike Armstrong and Fesler by long-distance telephone. Fesler said Minnesota had approached him with an offer "some seven or eight days ago."

Pickaway County Junior Tourney Begins Saturday

Pickaway County's 16-team junior high school basketball tournament will begin at 1 p. m. Saturday in Jackson Township high school gym.

South Bloomfield juniors will meet Muhlenberg in the first round of the 1951, followed by seven other junior tiffs during the afternoon and evening.

This year's junior elimination will feature eight games on the opening day, four games Jan. 29, two games Jan. 31 and two games in the finals Feb. 3.

Competition is open for all boys regularly enrolled in grades six, seven and eight in any Pickaway County school, although no players over 16-years-old may compete.

John McPherson, manager of the single-elimination junior contest, said that each team may enter 12 players in the competition, 10 who dress and two alternates.

McPHERSON ADDED that the junior games will consist of six minute quarters with two minutes of rest between periods and seven minutes rest a half-time.

Feature of the junior tussle will be a foul-shooting contest for 16 of the junior high cagers. Each team may enter one player in competition during the individual contest.

Players competing in the foul-shooting contest will be allowed five warmup tosses, then shoot 25 shots for the record. The player who scores the largest number out of 25 will receive a trophy.

Referees for this year's contest will be Bob Whetstone, Carlton Rayl, Bill Howard and Owen Sheetz.

Complete schedule of the first round of the tourney with times of each contest is:

So. Bloomfield vs. Muhlenberg, 1 p. m.
Darby vs. Washington, 2 p. m.
Ashville vs. Monroe, 3 p. m.
Pickaway vs. Wayne, 4 p. m.
Saltcreek vs. Jackson, 6 p. m.
Scioto vs. Atlanta, 7 p. m.
Walnut vs. New Holland, 8 p. m.

Duval vs. Williamsport, 9 p. m.

Williamsport's junior cage team is defending champion during this year's contest, while Bob Brumfield of Pickaway Township won last year's foul-shooting trophy.

Teams in the upper bracket of the tourney are to dress in the north locker rooms, lower bracket teams to dress in the south rooms.

Redleg Boss Leads Chandler

CINCINNATI, Jan. 25 — Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler, voted out by major league owners, is assured of the continued support of at least one club boss — Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds.

Giles reiterated his endorsement of Chandler last night at the baseball commissioner's annual press-radio dinner in Cincinnati, saying Chandler "has done a capable and honest job."

Chandler said he is proud "baseball has never been touched by gambling which has hurt other sports."

Buckeye Line Coach Loyal Clark and Backfield Coach Dick Fisher, Clark came to Ohio State from the University of Pittsburgh along with Fesler in 1947. Fisher, a former Buckeye backfield star, joined Fesler at Pittsburgh in 1946 and came to Ohio State with him.

Ohio State Athletic Director Dick Larkins said Fesler had told him two days ago he intended to sign the Minnesota contract. Fesler said he was "good friends" with Minnesota President James L. Morrill, former vice-president of Ohio State.

Larkins declined to discuss what changed Fesler's mind about football, but said:

"My knowledge was that Wes sincerely planned to get out of coaching."

In an interview last night, Fesler said:

"It's better that I stepped out of the job at Ohio State because of the circumstances."

He refused to explain what he meant by "circumstances." He had stated at the time of his resignation that he was quitting because of "pressure" and "interference" from outside sources.

Fesler's taking the Minnesota post does not add much to Ohio State's prestige.

FESLER GOES to a job Bierman held for 18 seasons. Before serving with the Marine Corps in World War II, Bierman led Minnesota to six Western Conference championships. In the 1950 season, the Gophers got one victory and one tie with seven losses.

The Buckeye teams won 21 games while losing 13 and tying three under Fesler. The Ohio State team shared the Big Ten title and won the Rose Bowl game in 1949.

Meanwhile, it was "business as usual" for the Ohio State leaders who are trying to select a successor to Fesler.

HARRY STROBEL, assistant football coach, still is in the running for the top title along with a number of other football mentors in the nation. Whether Strobel and the other assistants will go with Fesler is not known.

And, Paul Brown, Cleveland Browns coach, is scheduled to be interviewed Saturday evening. Brown, a former Buckeye coach, was one of the immediate "first choices" of many Ohio State backers at the time of Fesler's resignation.

Warriors Back In Loop Cellar With 76-43 Loss

Saltcreek Warriors were pushed back into the Pickaway County Basketball League cellar again Wednesday night when they travelled to Williamsport to suffer a 76-43 defeat.

Saltcreek had emerged from the loop basement Tuesday night with a victory over Scioto cagers, earning next-to-last spot in the league with the win.

Wednesday's loss to Williamsport ended the one-day respite for the Saltcreekers, however, and put them in a tie for last place with the Scioto aggregation.

Williamsport's redhot Deer quintet opened the contest against Saltcreek with an 18-8 first period margin and led by 29-18 at the half.

THE DEERS really went to town in the final two frames of the game, however, scoring 24 points in each of the final two periods while Saltcreek netted a total of only 25 for both.

Clarence Hastings was the big gun for the Deers in the encounter with a total of 20 points, while Carl Strous paced his Warrior quintet with a total of 17.

Williamsport reserves completed the evening for the hometown fans with a 28-20 decision over the Warrior subs.

301 LASSES TAKE PART

Girls' Play Day Labeled As A 'Roaring Success'

Pickaway County school officials checked over their records and labeled last week's all-county girls' "play day" as "a roaring success."

Held in Walnut Township school, the affair attracted 301 girls from all but one of the county schools.

During the program, the girls participated in volleyball and table tennis tournaments, badminton, dancing and trampoline play.

Shortly after 9 a. m., the girls started arriving at Walnut and at 9:30 the first games of the volleyball began. Two volleyball courts were in use the entire day. The girls were divided into A and B teams.

While volleyball progressed, table tennis tournaments started. Tables for singles and doubles were occupied most of the time.

While the four tournaments were in progress, the badminton court and the trampoline were in constant use. Although the girls were confined to the auditorium-gymnasium, so that the rest of Walnut school was not interrupted, they seemed to have plenty of space and enough room to move around in.

BEFORE NOON rolled around supervisors began to hear, "When do we eat?" Each girl had brought a sack lunch, and milk and ice cream were to be passed out in the cafeteria.

By 12:15, when the school cafeteria was available for use, there were 300 "starving" girls, and only room for 150. However, the girls exhibited good sportsmanship and in due time everybody had lunch.

Said Mrs. Virginia Courtwright: "Has it ever been said that peace and quietness is conducive to good digestion? Such was not the case during our lunch hour, for school cheers, songs, and hilarity in general, reigned supreme."

The climax of the day came with the ending of the volleyball tournaments. Those girls who were not playing picked a favorite team and set up cheering sections.

The honors were well divided among the schools, since Miss Mahorney of Williamsport won the trophy.

Athens Boxer's Determination Being Lauded

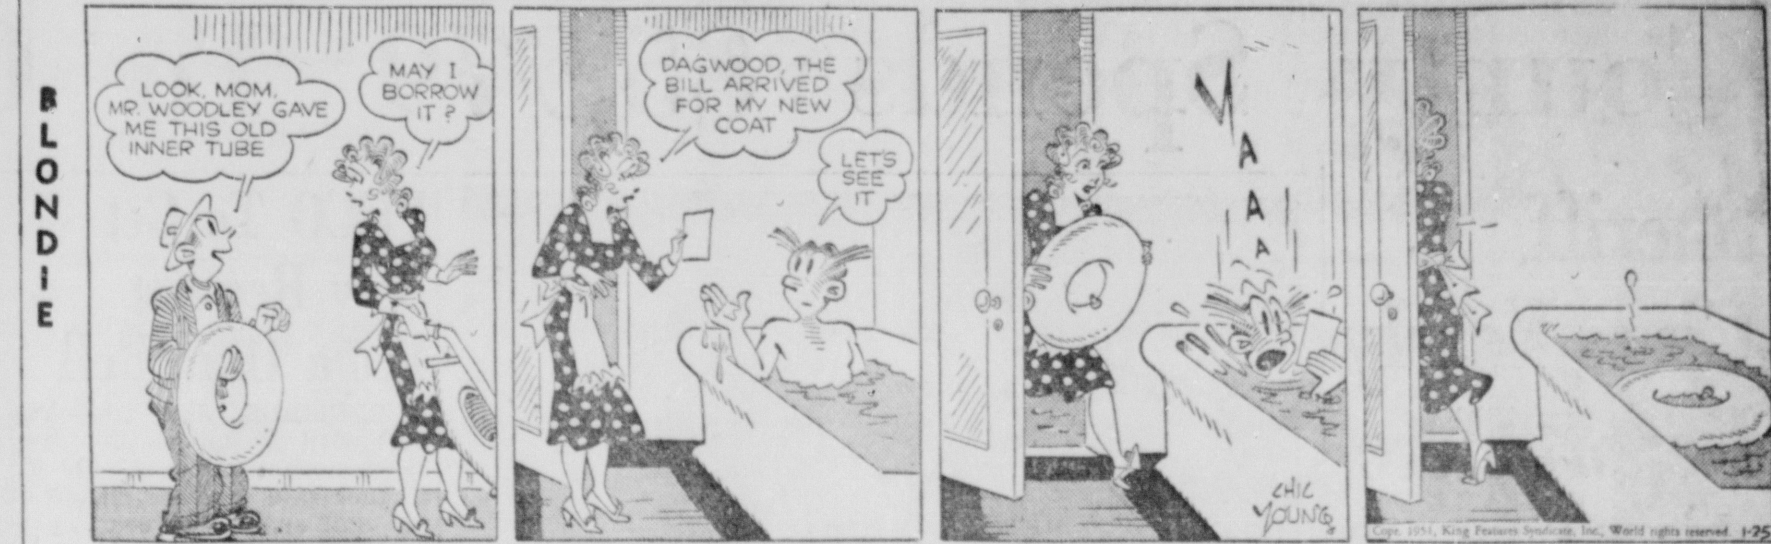

ZANESVILLE, Jan. 25 — If sheer determination carries any weight, 23-year-old Bill Rose of Athens will win for himself a spot in the sun at the Golden Gloves tournament in Chicago.

Bricklayer Rose was one of eight batters and bruise artists who won a spot in the national tourney before 2,600 spectators last night in Zanesville, one of the smallest cities in the nation to send contestants directly to the big fight.

Unable to talk anyone in Athens into sponsoring him, Rose decided he was going to fight anyway, despite the fact he had no trainer, no place to train and no equipment.

This young middleweight, who had never fought in a ring before, borrowed a skipping rope and gloves from a friend, scrounged shower space from Ohio university and worked out on his own.

Accompanied only by a couple of friends, he made three trips to Zanesville, at his own expense, to win his chance at national fame.

County Spends $5,979 To Care For 1,161 Jail 'Guests'

Sheriff Gives Yearly Report Here

Various Phases Of Work Noted

Pickaway County spent about $5,979 in 1950 to feed its "guests" in Pickaway jail.

According to a report for last year, prepared by Sheriff Charles Radcliff, a total of 1,161 prisoners were cared for in the county lockup.

In addition, the "guests" consumed a total of 18,403 free meals during the period at a cost of about 33 cents per meal.

In addition to feed and care of the large number of prisoners, the sheriff's department investigated a total of 179 auto accidents during 1950.

A total of 114 persons were injured in the accidents investigated by the county officers and seven persons were killed. Property damage to the autos involved in the smashups was estimated at about $57,375.

ONE FATAL FARM accident and one electrocution also were investigated by the department.

Another phase of the work for the year was serving of papers. The report shows that 306 warrants to arrest were served, 317 summonses delivered, 35 notices, four citations, seven capias papers and eight bills of information delivered.

In addition, 10 writs of partition sales were conducted with a total of about $43,913 derived from the sales.

Seven prisoners were accompanied from Pickaway county to Ohio State penitentiary, seven to Mansfield and nine to Lima state hospital.

Total number of miles covered in delivery of papers, serving warrants and investigations by the department was 84,375.

Also during the year were 182 investigations by the county lawmen, consisting of 27 burglaries, 70 thefts, 11 fires and 74 miscellaneous investigations.

As another service, the department issued 378 warrants for fox bounties claimed in the county during the year.

Water Pollution Board Seeking Strong Powers

COLUMBUS, Jan. 25—A far-reaching bill to give a new five-member Water Pollution Control Board powers over all public and private waters in the state was awaiting Ohio senate committee action today.

The bill, introduced by Sen. William Daddens (R-Cincinnati), would give the board power to control the dumping of all wastes into all waters and supervisory powers over all existing and future disposal plants.

Daddens said the bill also was designed to implement the Ohio River Valley Sanitation Compact, which is now being attacked on constitutional grounds in the supreme court of West Virginia.

The board would be composed of the state health director, the natural resources director, the attorney general, and two members appointed by the governor, one to represent the cities and the other, industry.

Violation of the board's regulations would carry a fine of up to $500 and a year in jail for each day the offense is maintained.

PUCO To Get New Request From Ohio Bell

COLUMBUS, Jan. 25 — The Ohio Bell Telephone Company has announced it would file for another rate increase on top of one still snarled in court procedure.

Ohio Bell President Randolph Eide said the new increase would be sought in an application to the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio "in a month or so."

A previous increase granted about two years ago has gone back and forth between PUCO and the Ohio supreme court. The rate case, fought by a number of cities, is once more before the high court on appeal from a commission order.

The PUCO ordered a reduction in rates, only after the high court sent the case back with a directive to do so and refund some $2 million to subscribers.

Eide was unable to say how large an increase would be sought in the latest appeal for a rate boost. He said only "we will ask for no more or no less than is absolutely necessary to give

Yankee Mailman Makes Study Of Socialism Plan

LONDON, Jan. 25 — Warm, friendly, Mailman Lincoln Kilby of Vandalia, Missouri, is fast making friends as Vandalia's unofficial ambassador to Britain. Kilby, gray-haired and slightly built, would be a welcome addition to any diplomatic corps. He has just started a two-month tour of Britain, discovering for himself and Vandalia just how socialism is faring here. Said Kilby:

"I hope the people won't resent me trying to find out what the British think about Socialism. So far, everyone has been nice and friendly.

"At home, in Vandalia, we often discuss world affairs at the Business and Professional Men's Club, and Britain always appears on the program.

"We figured it was about time we had some first-hand information, and I was chosen to find out what things are really like."

Doctors, businessmen, laborers and farmers are meeting and discussing matters with Kilby during his tour.
